

Shorter Drying Time Saves Money and Prevents More Damage

Depending on the situation and material involved, most restoration contractors report on average 3-5 day dry times using conventional methods such as air movement and dehumidification, rapidly increasing expenses and repairs. Environmental Consulting Group shortens the drying process in most cases to get your lives back to normal as quickly as possible. We report faster drying times and have fewer repairs if any at all, eliminating a massive mitigation other contractors commonly instigate.

- Emergency 24 hour service
- Water extraction and removal
- Drying out affected areas of your home or office (including walls, ceilings, carpet/padding, hardwood floors)
- Structural dehumidification
- Deodorizing (pets, mold, mildew, smoke)

"ECG - Iain and his team could not come more HIGHLY recommended. We had 6500 gallons of water in our basement and he came to the house within 2 hours of the call and removed all of it and dried it out completely!! I have used other companies in the past but will never use anyone but the ECG team in the future!!!! Thanks for everything!!!!"

"I guarantee honesty, reliable service and hard work. As part of your local community, I truly care about your situation and want to help by saving you as much money, time and heartache as we possibly can."

- Iain McIntyre, Owner, Environmental Consulting Group, Inc.

Why Use a Local Company?

Unlike other restoration companies, Environmental Consulting Group is not part of a franchise system. We are independently owned, right here in your community. What does that mean to you? We don't rely on big corporate advertising - instead, we rely on our satisfied customers to spread the word about our high-quality work. Our strong customer focus ensures that:

- We do what we say we're going to do
- When we say we're going to do it
- How we say we're going to do it
